Charles Wiseman and family, of near Island City, passed through today en route to their homestead near Hatton, in Franklin county, Washington.

Justus Wade, of Summerville, Union county, passed through this morning to Walla Walla on a visit. Mr. Wade was formerly state senator from Union and Walla counties.

D. C. Brownell, the pioneer irrigator of Umatilla, is in the city today on business connected with his irrigation projects. He has just completed a ditch and headgates for the purpose of irrigating 1200 acres of sandy land near the town of Umatilla.

State Senator N. Wheatdon, of Wasco county, failed to reach the city last evening on his contemplated trip to Weston, to look over the condition of the Weston Normal. He will be here next Monday and in company with Representative Blakeley, visit Weston on that day.

D. Dougherty, a farmer of Tutuilla, is in the city today on a trading trip. He reports the grain in that part of the county as not in any danger from freezing out. Most of it is up and out of reach of the cold weather, and some of it has not yet sprouted and is therefore safe. Very little, if any, reseeded will be necessary.

R. R. Collins, a prominent wood dealer of Kamela, and a fruit farmer of Freewater, was in the city last evening on his way from the wood camps at Kamela, to his home at Freewater, where his family resides. ### NO CAR SHORTAGE.

W. & C. R. Has Enough Cars for All Immediate Needs.

There is no car shortage on the Washington & Columbia River railway. S. B. Calderhead, general freight and passenger agent for the "Hunt" line, was in Pendleton last night, and gave out the statement that his road had plenty of cars available.

"There is an overabundance of flats," said Mr. Calderhead, "and there are enough freights for all immediate needs. The Washington & Columbia River road is moving little wheat just now. Unlike the O. R. & N. it was able to secure plenty of cars early in the season so as to clear up its heavy work and prevent delay.

The O. R. & N. has still a great deal of its eastern shipments to get out. With us about the only freight of any importance just now is the ordinary run of stuff coming in over the Northern Pacific."

To Denver Convention.

So far as is known, Charles Cunningham will be the only Umatilla county stockman to attend the meeting of the National Livestock association to be held in Denver January 10-14. Mr. Cunningham expects to attend if nothing happens to prevent him, later in the winter. His herds are now in the pink of condition and he is enthusiastic over the prospect ahead of western sheepmen.

New Directory of Pendleton.

W. J. Lloyd, representing R. L. Polk & Co., directory publishers, is in the city gathering data for the forthcoming Umatilla, Union and Baker county directory. This book will be on the same general lines as the last only much larger and more up-to-date work. The book contains the names of all business houses, professional men and occupations, also a complete list of all tax payers, giving the assessed valuation and postoffice addresses. This is an excellent advertisement for the city of Pendleton, as R. L. Polk & Co. publish directories and maintain libraries in all the principal cities of the United States, where all the directories are kept for the free use of the public. The sale of this book outside of the district which it covers is enormous.
